CREATIVE CANOPY

Stripes are gender- and age-neutral, as demonstrated in this project by USP Interiors. What was initially designed as a dressing room, with concealed closets on two sides of the room, had to quickly be reimagined as a nursery when creative director Lisaletta van Staden learned the client's baby arrived earlier than expected. The custom-built wallpaper adds a bit of theatre to the room and she's carried the paper up to the ceiling for a turreted feel. "Rooms with dual function don't have to be boring, cluttered or confused. These details help make it a pretty space, with soothing colours and set a touch of fun," says Henkette.
